COAST ASKING WHAT M'ADOO PROPOSES TO DO IN WEST

May Have Taken Up Residence There To Get Backing Of Pacific
States For President.

PERHAPS SENATOR

San Francisco, March 22.—(United Press)—Will Wm. G. McAdoo go to the 1914 Democratic National Convention with the solid votes of the Pacific Coast States backing him for president?

These and a lot of other political questions have resulted from McAdoo's announcement that he would give up his New York voting residence and move to Southern California.

The college professors and students of politics are asking other questions. McAdoo moves to California. W. J. Bryan takes his residence to Florida and makes it known that he would look with lenient eye on any action toward forcing the United States Senatorship on him.

Many political observers profess to believe that the United States is around to the English system of elections, whereby the candidate for political office picks out whatever district in England he likes and offers himself for election there. Only in the United States such politician would have to gain a legal residence.

In the 1920 Democratic Convention, many Democrats now believe McAdoo might have won had his own state been solidly behind him. It is a kind of fetish in conventions that if the delegates in a man's own state are not solid for him, he is a good man to leave alone.

While McAdoo is commonly reputed to be still nursing his presidential ambitions, it is nevertheless pointed out that a seat in the senate might be his second choice. If so, McAdoo's ambitions are dated several years away—1926, to be exact. He had not established residence in time to enter the 1922 lists against Senator Hiram Johnson. In 1926 Senator Samuel Shortridge will come up for reelection. And meantime there is the 1924 presidential campaign to be waged.

That McAdoo will greatly strengthen the Democratic forces in the state is not to be denied. In Southern California particularly a strong Democratic leader has been lacking for some time. Southern California is somewhat of a political enigma. It is nominally Republican, but very much of the independent or Progressive-Republican brand.

It is impossible to predict at present whether or not Johnson will be opposed in the Republican primaries. But it is doubtful that any one strong enough to give him a race would risk his political chances in such a contest.

How he will fare in the November election against a strong Democratic opponent is another matter. The Democratic opponent is another matter. The Democrats would like to see a Johnson-anti-Johnson split in the Republican party, but do not believe they can cause this.

Who will oppose Johnson is a matter of speculation. The most likely

DEMOCRATS LINING UP IN FUTILE PLAN TO DEFEAT BONUS

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Democratic Congressmen were lining up today for a futile fight on the gag plan by means of which the soldier bonus will be passed in the house tomorrow. They, with perhaps some Republican anti-bonus support, will make a fight this forenoon against the rule being framed by the rules committee for this procedure under which the bonus will skip through the House with a big majority after four hours debate. Conservative estimates are that there will be no more than seventy-five votes against the bill. The word is being passed around the House that President Harding almost certainly will not veto the present bill in fact Chairman Fordney is quoted as saying substantially that the present bill meets his approval.

District Attorneys Of State Meet At Capital To Discuss Problems

Harrisburg, Pa., March 22.—A new concerted drive to dry up Pennsylvania was discussed at the conference of State and United States District Attorneys here today. Attorney General George E. Alt, presiding over the gathering, suggested a state association of District Attorneys to secure cooperation in enforcing liquor laws and in attempting to secure legislation to that end. More than sixty State and Federal District Attorneys and other law enforcement officials took part in this meeting. Among those present were Altar called the meeting to order were United States District Attorneys Walter Lyons, George W. Cole and Albert Dunsmore. State Probation Director John T. Davis and Major Lynn Adams, Commissioner of the State Police.

prospect, it is believed, is former Senator James D. Phelan, who was defeated by Shortridge in the 1920 landslide. Phelan ran far ahead of his ticket, and many Democrats give him more than a chance. Phelan is an extremely independent Democrat. He was a reservationist on the League of Nations vote. He is at present in Japan, making a study of conditions there, and has sent back no word concerning his attitude. On the other hand many Democrats are urging him as a candidate for governor against William D. Stephens, incumbent.

The most likely candidate is Gavin McNab, veteran Democratic leader of the state, who has recently been much in the public eye as counsel for Mary Pickford and Roscoe Arbuckle. McNab was offered a position on the Shipping Board during the Wilson administration, but refused it. Many of McNab's friends doubt that he would be willing to enter a campaign as strenuous as that which a contest with Johnson would entail. McNab has issued a statement that he won't run, but his advocates say other men have changed their minds.

CHAIRMAN STERLING MOVES DEMOCRATS TO OPTIMISM

300 Gather At Dimeling
Dinner To Hear Party Leaders Speak And Launch Campaigns.

SURE OF VICTORY

State Chairman Bruce R. Sterling of Uniontown, the Moses who has essayed the hitherto deemed impossible and is attempting and getting across with his leading of the Democratic hosts of Pennsylvania from the faction torn fields of party strife into the promised land of opportunity to do battle with the common enemy for the regeneration—as Sterling and his Democratic cohorts put it—of the great State of Pennsylvania from Republican machine rule, met the "unfettered Democracy" of Clearfield county at a harmonious feast at The Dimeling Hotel last evening. This dinner brought together from all corners of Clearfield county men high in the local councils of that party who have for years been at loggerheads or in opposition to each other, politically speaking, and if the harmony existent on every hand lasts, means that the Republican party will face once again a united and harmonious Democracy in the county and will be therefore required to drop their own little factions and disagreements and put forth their best men for the offices to be filled if they hope to continue their dominating control of the office and maintain Republican supremacy in county, State and Nation.

Last night's meeting was only one of the series which are being held in every county in the State since Chairman Sterling's committee of 72 succeeded in harmonizing the difference between the State leaders and put forth its slated candidates for Governor, United States Senators and other State offices to be filled. One of the candidates for United States Senators is a son of old Clearfield county, Col. Frederick B. Kerr, and the success of last night's gathering when about four hundred of his Democratic friends and neighbors gathered together in an effort to harmonize their differences and present a united front to the common enemy was no doubt in large measure due to Col. Kerr's personal popularity and a tribute to his candidacy.

Influential workers were present from every section of the county, at least one hundred Democratic women participating in the gathering. In addition to State Chairman Sterling addresses were made by Mrs. Clarence Renshaw, of Allegheny county, the head of the Democratic woman's organization of the State; ex-Congressman Woods, N. Carr, of Uniontown, a Democratic campaigner of nation-wide reputation; Colonel Kerr, who received a wonderful ovation from the assemblage; Hon. J. Frank Snyder, candidate for Congress; W. H. Betts, of DuBois, candidate for Assembly from District No. 2; Green W. Bell, of Bell's Landing, Postmaster Con Allen, of DuBois, and that good old Democratic wheel horse William A. Hagarty, Esq.

It was one of that real old fashioned Democratic "love feasts" we read about, but which no man of the present generation has had opportunity heretofore to attend and much enthusiasm was evidenced throughout.

Following the speechmaking the following resolution favoring an old age pension system, along the lines being advocated by the Fraternal Order of Eagles of the Nation was introduced by J. D. Connelly and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, There is now a world-wide, growing sentiment that suitable and honorable provision should be made by government, for the support in old age of those who expend the energy of their vigorous years in production for the benefit of society at wages too low to permit of their laying by for old age and themselves the grip of age find themselves without employment and without in-

Formal Strike Order Is Issued By The Miners To Be Effective April 1st

Indianapolis, March 21.—A formal call for a suspension of work by all union coal miners issued today from the headquarters here of the United Mine Workers of America "directs all members of the organization employed in and around the anthracite and bituminous fields to discontinue work and the production of coal Friday March 31, 1922.

The suspension, the order added would continue "until terminated by action of the Policy Committee of the United Mine Workers" and until officers of the 3,000 union locals, scattered throughout the country have been advised of the committee's action.

Further the order said "In accordance with district and local agreements, local unions must permit a sufficient number of men to remain at work to insure the proper care and protection of all mining properties. Pumps, engineers and others necessary to protect the property must be allowed to remain at work. The proper co-operation must be given by the management in order to safeguard and protect property and under no circumstances should this rule be violated or set aside by the locals."

PUBLIC APPEAL BY HARDING NEXT STEP IN COAL SITUATION

Washington, D. C., March 22.—A public appeal by President Harding to coal operators and miners to settle their differences and avoid a nation-wide suspension of work April 1st may be made within a week. It was learned authoritatively today that President Harding is inclined toward such a move as a final effort to draw the Bituminous operators into a national wage conference.

This position on the part of the President enhances the chances of settlement in all districts. President Harding has consulted Attorney General Daugherty to find out what steps he might take in backing up the move he made in inviting the operators and miners to a conference. Daugherty told him he knew of no legal steps he might take towards a settlement. The possibility of a public appeal then arose. Some officials are understood to have been opposed to it on the ground that it was useless since the situation had developed to such a state that a walk out seems inevitable.

Judge Witmer Declares Refusing Of Licenses Is The Proper Method

Scranton, Pa., March 22 (United Press).—In commenting on the Lackawanna County court's decision to refuse all liquor licenses, Judge C. B. Witmer of the United States Court declared that similar action by other jurisdictions is the only thing that will ever bring about complete and satisfactory prohibition enforcement.

Judge Witmer has been handing out severe sentences for dry law violations for some time, and believes the government agents in the state are making rapid progress towards driving out the bootlegger.

come for their support, and

Whereas, The most effective and least costly way of removing from the minds of citizens the haunting fear of want in old age and dependency seems to be through old age pensions, which investigation in several states has shown would cost less than the present pauper support; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Democrats of Clearfield County in meeting assembled, declare that we are in favor of an old age pension law and request that all members of assembly and the senator from this district nominated and elected on the Democratic ticket be asked to support in the legislature of Pennsylvania an Old Age Pension system."

J. Fred Weaver, Esq., presided as Toastmaster and was in his usual good form. His introductory remarks were pointed and timely in every instance.

The Keystone Quartette sang several numbers very delightfully during the evening.

COMMISSIONERS SET UP ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM FINALLY

Outline What Can Be Accomplished With Funds Available From Million Dollar Issue.

FOREARLY LETTING

The Clearfield County Commissioners at a session on Monday morning last made final decision on the remaining pieces of road in Clearfield county to be built out of the million dollar road bond fund. A couple of weeks ago bids were opened and contracts awarded for improved roads in Sandy township, Curwensville borough, and Pike township, Pike and Knox township and Osceola borough.

At Monday's session the following roads were decided upon by the Commissioners:

Mahaffey borough, 4176 feet.
Bigler township, from Madera to foot of Minds hill in the direction of Smike Run, a distance of 11,760 feet.

Houtzdale borough, 4091 feet.
Woodward township, from western line of Houtzdale borough to Cross Keys, 6200 feet.

Coalport borough 4086 feet.

Irvona borough 3905 feet.

Bradford township from Woodland to Pleasant Valley church, 15,840 feet, and from A. L. Forcey's residence thru the village of Bigler to the cross roads beyond a distance of 7696 feet.

Basing their estimates upon the cost per mile as shown by the bids set per mile as shown by the owners claim that the above projects will require the total million dollar fund, with the exception of about $25,000 which is being retained for the purpose of paying for possible right of way damages, extras and incidentals under the different contracts.

According to information given us by the Commissioners office for this article the different propositions enumerated above will be advertised for bids by the State Highway Department at an early date. It was noted to get them all in the lettings scheduled for April 15th, but on account of the fact that the program was not finally completed until Monday morning this may be impossible out if they fail to be advertised April 15th they will be placed in the next letting after that time.

In all of these proposed pieces the Commissioners or County is paying 75 per cent of the cost, while the district in which the road is located is supplying the remaining 25 per cent. The people of the Houtzdale region made a hard fight to have the connecting link between the end of the present improved road beyond Osceola and Houtzdale borough line constructed at this time but circumstances and the cards appeared to be stacked against them and they could not get Commissioners Dale and Farrell to see it their way.

It is certainly to be regretted this important road could not have been completed this summer, as it works a real hardship on a large and busy population, and certainly does not look like either good business or common sense to improve the road on each side, allowing a two or three mile impassable morass of mud in between.

DOLLAR DAY WILL ECLIPSE ANYTHING EVER SEEN HERE

That this year's Dollar Day is going to eclipse anything thus far attempted as a cooperative merchandising movement by the Clearfield merchants, is fully demonstrated by the offerings which appear in tonight's Progress.

Everywhere merchants and salespeople are on their toes preparing for an enormous gathering of folks eager to take advantage of the offerings that are made. This Spring the Clearfield merchants realize that conditions are not as they have been in the past and are making their offerings a great deal better than ever in the history of the event.

Store after store that heretofore thought that they had nothing to offer in an event such as this, has come into the event with all their might and main and this coupled with the offerings that have been made should make this a great day for the folks of this city and vicinity.

If the crisp weather of the past few days holds there is no doubt but what this city is going to be overwhelmed with a throng of buyers, eager to save and to take every advantage of the savings.

Not all the merchants participating have advertisements in tonight's Progress but they will be in with the proverbial "bells on" in tomorrow's issue so it behooves you to read the advertisements tonight and then read them all over again tomorrow night.

Live Wires In Business World Lined Up To Sneak To Commercial Club

Some more real wires in the business would have been lined up by the directors of the Commercial Club for the meetings during April and the first meeting in May. Here they are and there is going to be a rush for seats:

April 3rd—Hon. M. L. Davy of Kent Ohio, General Manager of The Davy Tree Expert Co., Inc. Mr. Davy has been twice Congressman at Washington and three times Mayor of his city. He sneaks on "The Vital Relations of Trees and Human Life."

Mr. Davy is a Rotarian and the Rotary Club is coming in a body to this meeting.

April 17th—Mr. G. A. Bowman, of Buffalo, N. Y., Assistant General Freight Agent of the B. & P. Railroad Company.

May 1st—Mr. R. C. Wright, of Philadelphia, Pa., General Traffic Manager, Philadelphia System.

REFUSED JOHNSON PARDON

The Pardon Board at its session at Harrisburg yesterday refused a pardon to Walter Johnson, the DuBois young man who is serving a four year sentence for rape. Johnson entered a plea of guilty to committing perjury at his trial in the Clearfield county courts when he attempted to establish an alibi and was recently sentenced to an additional year in the penitentiary on that charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Latimer Gulich are confined to their home on Third street with the influenza.

Y. M. C. A. OPENING BIGGEST EVENT IN TOWN TOMORROW

Tiled Swimming Pool,
Twenty By Sixty, With Spectators' Gallery, Is Thing Of Real Beauty.

OPEN AT 3 O'CLOCK

Final arrangements have been completed for the formal opening Thursday afternoon of the newly remodeled and rebuilt Y. M. C. A. building and all the people of this community, which includes Clearfield, Hyde City, Curwensville, Grampian, Woodland, Barrett and Bigler are invited and urged to be on hand at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when the doors of the magnificent new Y are thrown open to the public for the purpose of visiting and inspecting this wonderful plant, devoted to the moral and physical growth and up-building of this community and its people.

What the committee in charge of this remodeling and rebuilding has accomplished is really marvelous and almost past belief and cannot be described but must be seen to be really appreciated.

The crowning glory of the new plant, in addition to the largest and best equipped gym in these parts, is the handsome new tiled swimming pool. This is a real feature, a novelty to Clearfield and an adjunct the Y directors may well take pride in. It is complete in every particular and the very "last word" in swimming pool construction. The pool is regulation 20x60 feet in size and will furnish healthful recreation for young and old Clearfielders for many a day. It is surrounded by all the necessary adjuncts in a spacious, exceptionally well lighted room with a spectators gallery along the sides for use during aquatic contests and sure is good to look upon. The pool is sanitary and hygienic in every particular from the tiled sides and bottom to the steam heating plant used to heat the water used and the filtration tanks employed to keep the water pure. The tank ranges in depth from 4 to 7 1/4 feet and when filled contains 65,000 gallons of water.

But we told you before the new Y. M. C. A. building, equipment and contents could not be described, but need but be seen to be appreciated, and we are going to quit right here attempting to tell you what a visit to the building will disclose and ask everybody to accept the invitation of the Y directors and visit the building Thursday afternoon and evening between the hours of 3 to 10 o'clock.

There will be no program and nothing to distract your attention. It is proposed to make the formal opening purely a sight-seeing tour. Don't fail to be on hand to inspect this wonderful plant. The "Phrenzied Friends" orchestra will supply sweetest music during the inspection and the American Legion Band will give an open air concert in front of the building in the evening if the weather permits.

Everybody cordially invited to look the new building over.

REV. W. W. HARTMAN

Rev. William W. Hartman, for the past five years the earnest, hard-working pastor of Trinity Methodist church, whose death occurred at the Ward House in Tyrone Monday evening, March 20th at 5 o'clock, following a paralytic stroke with which he was seized about 3:40 o'clock the preceding Sunday morning, was one of the ablest and best known ministers in the Central Pennsylvania conference. Rev. Hartman had been in attendance at the conference at Tyrone all week and just an hour after his brethren had received their appointments for the coming year was "called to the fellowship of the Church triumphant." His was indeed a translation, unique in the annals of the conference. He had been summoned home to officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Thomas H. Murray and after conducting family worship at the home of John Campbell, where he had been entertained during the week, was on his way to the railroad station when he suffered the fatal seizure. He was assisted into the Ward House and medical aid summoned but to no avail and no hope for his recovery was entertained from the start of his illness.

Rev. Hartman was born at Buckhorn, Columbia county, July 23, 1870. On June 19, 1895, he was united in marriage with Miss Hester Ann Tabbs, who survives with three children—Mrs. K. E. Walton, of Delaware, Ohio; Emory, a theological student at Boston; Miss Ruth Louise at home. A little granddaughter survives and two sisters—Mrs. C. A. Purcell, of Bloomsburg, and Mrs. Jacob Harris, of Buckhorn. He was educated at Williamsport Dickinson seminary, Antioch college, Antioch, Ohio, and Drew Theological seminary. He was admitted to the conference in 1894 and spent that year at Drew, being ordained deacon at Tyrone in 1895 by Bishop Newman. That year he began his ministry at Park Place and Audenried. He was admitted into full connection in 1896 and ordained elder in 1898 at Danville by Bishop Andrews. Other appointments were as follows: Freeland, 98-00; St. Mary's, 01-02; Mifflinburg, 03; Gettysburg and New Oxford, 04-08; Hollidaysburg, 09-10; Tyrone, First Church, 11-14; Harrisburg, Ridge Avenue, 15-16; Clearfield, 17.

He gave freely of his life's energies for his church, being a member of the conference board of examiners, vice president of the Mutual Beneficial association and president of the conference Educational society. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at New Oxford.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist church in Tyrone by Rev. Dr. Fasic at 10:45 Wednesday morning and the remains taken to the home of Rev. Hartman's sister, Mrs. C. A. Purcell, where the funeral will be held Thursday afternoon. These services will be in charge of Dr. E. A. Pyles, Supt. of the Williamsport district, while Dr. Yocum will preach the funeral sermon.

MINER COMES BACK AT TAXPAYER

Editor of the Progress:

Clearfield, Pa., March 21, 1922

Dear Sir:

As a reader of your paper I cannot refrain from making this reply to the cowardly attack of "A Taxpayer" on Mr. Brophy and the United Mine Workers organization. In regard to the outrage committed at Snow Shoe, if he can prove that Mr. Brophy or the organization had anything to do with it why don't he do so. If not, why don't he keep his foul, cowardly mouth shut. The organization is controlled by some of the country's best men and not men of the stripe that wrote the article appearing in your paper on March 18th. I suppose the wild cats in the Snow Shoe region belong to the U. M. W. of A.

Yours truly

O. P. Conklin, 414 Nicholas St., shoemaker, Clearfield, says: "I suffered with my kidneys. I was drowsy and would get dizzy. I also had headaches and a bad pain in the small of my back, which caused me a lot of annoyance. It was difficult for me to stoop on account of this trouble with my back. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully, removing the pain in my back, dizziness and nervousness. The headaches also went away."

MR. BUSINESS MAN

Are you building your body as fast as you tear it down with your intense application to business? It's necessary these days to dig in as you never did before to make things go. But in your hustle and bustle, be sure to take good care of your body. And there's no better way to build than to drink lots of milk. Milk is the greatest system builder that Nature has produced and it will replace the waste brought about by your hard work.

Drink milk at your meals—drink milk when you feel that you need a lunch—drink milk at any old time—and drink plenty of it.

HAVE YOU A FAMILY: This Advice is of Vital Importance To You

Johnstown, Pa.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restored my little boy to health when all else had failed. He had the influenza and pneumonia from which he could not seem to recover. He could not eat and would cough so at night that he could not sleep. He became weak and thin, nothing I gave him in the way of medicine helped him. I had about given up the idea that he would ever be well when I was advised to give him Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in small doses and it has completely cured him. He is now fat and robust, seldom ever coughs and has a splendid appetite. I appreciate the good 'Golden Medical Discovery' did my boy and shall always recommend it."—Mrs. Fannie H. A PERFECT CAR LAUNDRY

We're a great car laundry down here. You bring your car in covered with mud—the body and windshield splashed all over, the nickel in such shape that you can't tell it's nickel.

We start in with warm water and loosen the mud. Then we rinse thoroughly and chamois well. Then we start on the nickel and brass and when we're finished your car is looking as good as a new coat of paint.

Bring your car in and let us show you how good a job we'll do on it. Or if you say so, we'll call for and deliver your car.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The "human mind in the mass" is certainly a hard proposition, as was evidenced by the avalanche of sober citizens which inundated the Town Council at its meeting in the Borough building Monday evening. Nobody was sure as to what they wanted, but everybody was sure as to what they didn't want. They were in it in not wanting Market and Second streets resurfaced. There was no mistaking that fact. Then, too, about every last man of them wanted the street or driveway made at least ten feet wider through the business section of the town. This was one of the reasons for the opening observation for the reason that when Council attempted by the traffic regulations, to give traffic on these streets all the advantage of the present 30 feet width by prohibiting the parking of automobiles in the business district, some of the members of Monday night's delegations appeared before Council as representatives of the same bodies demanding that the streets be made wider, and protested against Council's action in forbidding parking on Market and Second streets, urging that the streets as at present were plenty wide enough to allow parking on one side. This request was acceded to by Council, the traffic law modified and now six or eight feet of each street is devoted to parking. Consistency, indeed thou art a whole jewelry store.

Then, too, a few years ago when Council decided to repave North Second street and place a concrete base under the brick, some of the kickers on the proposed resurfacing as equally as "het up" over that proposition, and some of these self-same kickers protested to Council against such an "unwise" expenditure of the taxpayer's money, alleging in their arguments against the expensive concrete base that no "artificial" foundation was necessary under the brick on these streets, that we had a river gravel base or bottom, with its natural drainage and natural foundation for the paving. They even went so far as to threaten to go into court and get an injunction to restrain the Highway Committee from proceeding with the work. The upshot of the matter was the concrete base was placed, moved to be great stuff and has since been used in all our paving.

It is not the purpose of this article to find fault or attempt to censure anybody on this resurfacing, whether or paving proposition. Everybody was within his rights in every case and we simply recount these happenings "lest we forget" and to demonstrate how peculiarly the human mind functions or operates in the mass. And, too, if a fellow doesn't have to meet such propositions as confront Council from time to time and not subject to criticism for not doing the things that are left undone on occasions such as the present, it is much easier for him to decide what to do in the premises. But then that is what a Councilman expects when he assumes the public burden. So let 'er roll, boys.

be getting really civilized. Listen to this:
Three divorces for any one person seems to be the limit in Soviet Russia, according to Mr. Parley Christenson, of Chicago, just arrived at Riga after having spent some months in Russia studying conditions and the working of Bolshevik courts there.
It is amazingly easy to get a divorce, he says, and relates the procedure at one divorce court that he visited.
"The whole proceedings were exremely simple and the couple were separated in fifteen minutes.

"The judge appeared in the courtroom and the pair applying for divorce were separately questioned by him.
"He then got them together and tried to persuade them that their quarrel might be patched up and that they might live together.
"As the pair could not see it that way the judge asked no more particulars, but took them into an adjoining room, where they signed papers dissolving their marriage.

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE CARELESS

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial.

LYNDE

What Kirgan said about the Red Tower people using our rolling stock on their private branch roads set a bee to buzzing in my brain. What if they had stolen the 1016 to use in that way?

"You have a blue-print of the Portal division here, haven't you?" I asked.

"Dig it up and let's have a look at it."

At first the facts threatened to bluff us. The blue-print engineers' map was an old one, but it showed the spurs and side-tracks, the stations and water tanks. Since the lost engine had been standing at the western end of the Portal City yards, we didn't try to trace it eastward. To get out in that direction it would have had to pass the round-house, the shops, the passenger station and the headquarters building, and, even at that time of night, somebody would have been sure to see it.

Tracing the other way—westward—we had a clear track for ten miles to Arroyo. Arroyo had no night operator, so we agreed that the stolen engine might easily have slipped past there without being marked down. Eight miles beyond Arroyo we came to Banta, the first night station west of Portal City. Here, as we figured it, the wild engine must have been seen by the operator, if by no one else. Banta was an apple town, and the town itself might have been asleep, but the wire man at the station shouldn't have been.

"I hold Banta in suspense a bit, but that by some means or other the thieves managed to get by," I suggested. "The next thing to be considered is the fact that the Ten-Sixteen must now have been running—without orders, we must remember—against the Fast Mail coming east. The Mail didn't pass her anywhere—not officially, at least; if it had, the fact would show up in some station's report to the dispatcher's office."

At this, we hunted up an official time-card and began to figure on the "meet" proposition. The Fast Mail was due at Portal City at twelve-twenty, and on the night in question it had been on time. Making due time allowances for inaccuracy in the yard watchman's story, the missing engine could hardly have left the Portal City yard much before ten-forty-five.

The Fast Mail was scheduled at forty miles an hour. Its time at Banta was eleven-fifty-three. Allowing the 1016 the same rate of speed in the opposite direction, it would have passed Banta at eleven-twelve or thereabouts. Hence there would be a forty-one minutes running time to be divided between the eastbound train and the westbound engine. In other words, the meeting-point, with the two running at the same speed, would fall about twenty minutes west of Banta.

Tracing the line on the blue-print, we hunted for a possible passing point.

Gotta. So I asked Kirgan.

"That siding isn't in any such shape that the Fast Mail could get by without seeing a 'meet' train on the side-track, is it?"

"The big master-mechanic shook his head."

"Hardly, you'd think. I reckon we are up a stump, Jimmie. That siding is part of an old 'Y' at the mouth of a gulch that runs back into the mountains for maybe a dozen miles or so. They tell me the 'Y' was put in for the Timber Mountain Lumber outfit when they used the gulch mouth for their shipping point. They had one of their saw-mills up in the gulch somewhere, but the business died out when they got the timber all cut off."

"Tell me this, Mart," I put in quickly. "The Timber Mountain company is one of the Red Tower monopolies; did it have a railroad track up that gulch connecting with our 'Y'?"

"Why, yes; I reckon so. I'm not right sure that there ain't one there yet. But if there is, it's been disconnected from the 'Y.' I'm sure of that, because I went in on that 'Y' one day with the wrecker."

"You'd think this would have settled it. But I hung on like a dog to a root."

"Say, Mart," I insisted, "this 'Y' siding we're talking about is just around where the Ten-Sixteen ought to have met the Mail, so far as we can tell by this map it's the only place where it could have met it. And the old gulch track would have been a mighty good hiding-place for the stolen engine!"

"There ain't any track there," said Kirgan, shaking his head; "or, leastwise, if there is, it hasn't any rail connection with our siding, just as I'm telling you. We'll have to look farther along."

Somehow, I couldn't get it out of my head but that I was right. Our guesses all went as straight as a string to that 'Y' siding ten miles west of Banta, and I was sure that if I had been talking to Mr. Van Bitt I could have convinced him. But Kirgan was awfully hard-headed.

"It's supper time," he said, after we had milled a while longer over the map. "Tomorrow, if you like, we'll take an engine and run down there. But we ain't going to find anything. I can tell you that, right now."

"Yes, and tomorrow we may have the new general manager, and then you and I and all the others will be hunting for some other railroad to work on," I retorted.

"I pretty nearly had him over the edge, but I couldn't push him the rest of the way to save my life."

"If there was the least little scrap-iron reason even to imagine that Mr. Norcross had gone off on that stolen eight-wheeler, it would be different, Jimmie," he protested. "But there ain't, and you know doggone well there ain't. Let's go up-town and hunt up something to eat. You'll feel a heap clearer in your mind when you get a good square meal inside o' your clothes."

We left the shop offices together, and got shut out, crossing the yard, by a freight that was pulling in from the west. There was a yard crew shifting on the other side of the incoming train, and rather than wait for the double obstruction to clear itself, we walked down the shop track, meaning to go around the lower end of things.

This detour took us past the round-house, and when we reached the turntable lead, the engine of the just-arrived freight came backing down the skip-track. Seeing Kirgan, the engineer swung down from the step at the lead switch, leaving the hostler to "spot" the engine on the table. I knew the engineer by sight. His name was Gorchner, and he was a reformed cow-puncher—with a record for getting out of more tight places with a heavy train than any other man on the division.

"Here's looking at you, Mr. Kirgan," he said, with a sort of Happy Hooligan grin on his smutty face. "You been passin' the word, quiet, among the boys to keep an eye out for that Atlantic-type that got lost in the shuffle, ain't you? Well, I found her."

"What's that—where?" snapped Kirgan, in a tone that made a noise like the pop of a whip-lash.

"You know that old gravel pit that digs into the hill a mile west of the old 'Y' on the Timber Mountain grade? Well, she's there; plumb at the far end o' that gravel track, cold and dead."

"Crippled?" Kirgan rapped out.

"Not as we could see; just dead. She's got her nose shoved a piece into the gravel bank, but she ain't off the rail."

Kirgan nodded. "Who else saw her?"

"Nobody but the boys on our train, I reckon."

"All right. Don't spread it. Want to make a little overtime?"

A new enterprise which is going to afford much pleasure to the devotees of the cue was opened to the public today on the corner of Market and Third streets when the new Johnson Billiard Parlor made its initial bow to the Clearfield public.

The room has been fitted up with three pocket billiard tables and one cushion billiard table. These tables are of the latest design and are from the best makers of billiard tables in the country. The playing equipment is in keeping with the tables and is of the best.

The new cigar cases, another innovation in this city, are conveniently placed and are a novelty. Instead of having a clerk hand you out a handful of cigars or a box, you make your selections and then by lever manipulation the front of the section of the case is lowered and you do your own selecting.

The front of the store has been entirely done over and in exquisite taste. The inside decorations are tasteful in the extreme and will be appreciated by the Clearfield billiard playing public.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but powerful laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do better than calomel does, but have no bad effects. They don't injure the stomach, strong liquids or calomel. They hold off the trouble and quickly cure it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the rest? Calomel sometimes has havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that boggy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lacy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. Use and like.

There was a blind siding ten miles west, but beyond that, nothing east of Sand Creek, which was twenty-one miles farther along; at least, there was nothing that showed up on the map. The ten-mile siding might have served for the passing point, but in that case the crew of the Fast Mail would surely have seen the 1016 waiting on the siding as they came by. And they hadn't seen it; Kirgan said they had been questioned promptly the following morning.

Though I had been over the road with Mr. Norcross in his private car any number of times since we had taken hold, I didn't recall the detail topographies very clearly, and I couldn't seem to remember anything about this siding ten miles west of
